> LOGLINE: Forced down a pre-planned path to settle in the US, an indifferent tech student undergoes a radical transformation—from choosing picnics over voting to leading an explosive college election riot, discovering his family's bloody anti-corruption past, and giving up his gilded American dream to unleash a ruthless war against the political syndicates of Karnataka.

THEMATIC CORE: THE MODERN RAMAYANA VS. THE PRIDE LANDS

In classical epic narrative, King Dasharatha sends Rama into Vanavasa (wilderness exile). In contemporary society, middle-class parents force their children into a comfortable foreign exile (the US exodus) to insulate them from domestic social rot. Shree Ram inverts this archetype by moving from ignorance to complete civic consciousness, rejecting modern luxury to reclaim his family's lost kingdom.

ACT I: THE IGNORANT CUB & THE COLLEGE WAR (AGES 18–22)

1. The Ignorant Drone & The College Picnic

At eighteen, Naren enters CS Engineering at JCE/NIE Mysore. His parents have pre-programmed his life: clear engineering, board a flight to the United States, and join his elder brother. On state election days, while the nation votes, Naren and his squad choose lakeside bike picnics over casting ballots—completely detached from local society.

2. The Accidental Swayamvara & Library Romance

At twenty-one, during a 7th-semester college Fresher's Party, a junior named Seethalakshmi is subjected to a ragging challenge: "Propose to the worst and least intelligent-looking guy in the room!" She picks Naren, assuming a bookworm glued to a corner is single and harmless. This comedic Swayamvara sparks an unlikely romance. Naren reveals his cheeky alter-ego "Shree Ram," and they spend endless hours in the college library, growing into deeply committed lovers.

3. The "Democrazy" App & The Hallway Bloodbath (Interval Point)

For their final-year project, Shree Ram and Seethalakshmi build "Democrazy"—an app auditing local electoral candidates. To test it live, they field a North Indian student in the JCE Student Union Elections, teaching him fluent Kannada and rallying youth support. This triggers historic friction against local campus goons. On election morning, opposition thugs kidnap their candidate and target Seethalakshmi. Shree Ram snaps, marching down the college hallway alone and exploding into a brutal 1-vs-9 fight sequence to rescue Seetha and secure their candidate's spot.

ACT II: THE COMPROMISE & THE GHOSTS OF KARNATAKA (AGES 22–24)

1. The Post-Interval Swayamvara Pitch

Following graduation, Shree Ram confesses his love for Seethalakshmi to his father. During a tense negotiation over filter coffee between both families, Shree Ram quips to her father:

> "Uncle, Swayamvaradalli select aagidini... Kaadig karkond hogana anta bandidini!"
> (Uncle, I was selected in the Swayamvara... now I've come to take her to the forest!)

Her family agrees under one firm condition: an immediate internal engagement, with both of them flying to the US together after Seetha completes her degree—granting Shree Ram a 3-year grace period in India.

2. The Digital Revolution & Alumni Encounter

Shree Ram transitions into a high-growth startup and becomes the Alumni Network Lead. At an alumni meet, he crosses paths with Rajendra (60s)—a fierce ex-UPSC officer contesting local elections to protect regional land and water resources from corrupt land syndicates. Moved by Rajendra's noble mission, Shree Ram adapts his "Democrazy" framework to build viral social media engines, digital campaign tools, and transparent micro-funding platforms. Within 30 days, Rajendra's campaign reaches over 100,000 voters, transforming him into an unstoppable front-runner.

3. The Box at the Door & Severed Head

As Rajendra's wave threatens the ruling political hierarchy, local thugs vandalize Shree Ram's campaign office. Shree Ram counter-attacks, delivering a cold warning to stay away. On the eve of Shree Ram's scheduled departure to the US—with his parents already abroad—his friends and Seethalakshmi throw him a farewell birthday party. Midway through, a package arrives marked as a gift from a political office. Shree Ram opens it—only to find the severed head of Rajendra inside.

ACT III: THE BLOOD, THE ROAR & THE RECKONING (AGE 25)

1. The Martyr's Letter & Ancestral Secret

Inside the package lies a sealed letter written by Rajendra before his death, exposing a dark family secret: Decades ago, Shree Ram's grandfather was a legendary anti-corruption leader in North Karnataka who was brutally murdered by Bangalore syndicates. Terrified, Shree Ram's parents swore a pact of silence, suppressing their past and forcing their sons toward the safety of America.

2. The Tractor Rampage & The Three Promises

The revelation shatters Shree Ram's remaining ignorance. Grief turns into terrifying rage. Uncovering the local gang module that executed Rajendra, Shree Ram hijacks an agricultural tractor and drives it directly into the syndicate's stronghold, completely crushing their vehicles and breaking their legs in a display of raw retribution. He insists Seethalakshmi board her flight to the US alone for her safety, taking full responsibility before her parents, who offer their blessing.

3. Day One Nomination & Press Conference Climax

Rejecting the political norm of filing nominations on the final day, Shree Ram walks into the electoral office on Day One to file his papers as an Independent Candidate. Standing before a packed room of national reporters with a bloodied bandage over his forehead, Shree Ram tears up his US visa on live television, declaring war on political corruption and committing his life to the soil.
